

March 10, 2008

Ms. Lena Gaynes
President
Long Island League to Abolish Cancer (L.I.L.A.C.)
24 Bucknell Drive
Plainview, NY 11803

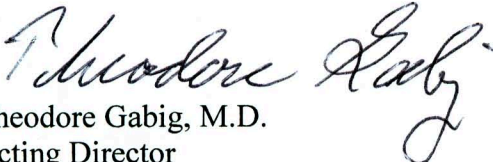

Dear Ms. Gaynes:

Undoubtedly, finding a cure for cancer is foremost on Stony Brook University Cancer Center researchers' list of goals. Receiving the funding for this research at times seems not to be a matching priority.

The Long Island League to Abolish Cancer is one organization that has made funding cancer research their mission. The dedication of a small group of Plainview community members, who put this mission ahead of personal gains, has supported cancer research throughout Long Island. Stony Brook University Medical Center has been a proud and very appreciative recipient of their generosity supporting many of our cancer research projects by enabling us to purchase necessary equipment.

On behalf of our faculty, fellows and residents who conduct a wide range of translational research at Stony Brook, we thank you.

Sincerely,

Theodore Gabig, M.D.
Acting Director
Stony Brook University Cancer Center